I strongly believe that this book covers something for everyone. For me it was the last chapter for a coaching that really spoke to me, I already run a business as a therapist and the next step that I want to take is as a professional coach for development. I also found benefits thought-out the previous chapters as they sparked ideas for how I can incorporate different aspects and strategies into an already established business. Everything you need to understand is in the title of this book and it will create a starting point and lead you though the first 12 hours of creating an online business. For me, online business is a part of every company, business, or individual enterprise that exists today.
